

We are linked to this territori like a baby is linked to its mother: it tells us stories, it suggest to us how to treat it. We are used to listening to it, humbly, because there is always something to learn, everyday.

Gradis'ciutta is the name of the land where vineyards are rooted. As the grapes, they are born and grown on ponca which they belive to be sacred. This is what Gradis'ciutta is, the heritage and its pride. Their tradition in wine making is a long story and they use to tell this tale to their babyes at night, before sleeping; they enjoy listening because they know they will be the next generation of protagonists.
